

Job Applicant Privacy Notice

Data controller: CEO of South Bristol Youth Consortium for Young People (South Bristol Youth); 07507 846391; SBYadmin@sby.org.uk

As part of any recruitment process, South Bristol Youth collects and processes personal data relating to job applicants. We are committed to being transparent about how we collect and use that data and to meeting our data protection obligations.

Data protection principles

In relation to your personal data, South Bristol Youth will always strive to:

- process it fairly, lawfully and in a clear, transparent way;
- collect personal data from you that is necessary to consider your application and that is subsequently necessary to collect and process as part of your employment. We will explain to you what data we collect from you and why only use it in the way that we have told you about;
- ensure it is correct and up to date;
- keep your data for only as long as we need it;
- ensure that your data is kept safe and secure and access to it is limited to those who need to process it for the purposes we explain to you.

What information does South Bristol Youth collect?

South Bristol Youth collects a range of information about you. This includes:

- your name, address and contact details, including email address and telephone number;
- your date of birth;
- details of your qualifications, professional memberships, education history, skills, experience and employment history;
- whether or not you have a disability;
- information about your entitlement to work in the UK;
- information about your criminal record;
- information about your driving licence;
- details of periods of parental leave taken by you;
- equal opportunities monitoring information, including information about your ethnic origin, gender, sexual orientation, health and religion or belief.

South Bristol Youth may collect this information in a variety of ways. For example, data might be contained in application forms and CVs, obtained from your passport or other identity documents, or collected through interviews or other forms of assessment.

South Bristol Youth may also collect personal data about you from third parties, such as references supplied by former employers, information from employment background check providers and information from criminal records checks. We will inform you that we are doing so.

Data will be stored in a range of different places, including on your application record, in HR management systems and on other IT systems (including email).

South Bristol Youth will only collect criminal conviction data where it is appropriate given the nature of the role and where the law permits it. This data will usually be collected at the recruitment stage, however it may also be collected during any subsequent employment with us, should you be successful in obtaining employment.

Why does South Bristol Youth process personal data?

South Bristol Youth needs to process data to take steps at your request to evaluate your application for employment. We may also need to process your data to enter into an employment contract with you.

In some cases, South Bristol Youth needs to process data to ensure that we are complying with our legal obligations. For example, we are required to check a successful applicant's eligibility to work in the UK before employment starts.

South Bristol Youth has a legitimate interest in processing personal data during the recruitment process and for keeping records of the process. Processing data from job applicants allows us to manage the recruitment process, assess and confirm a candidate's suitability for employment, decide to whom to offer a job, assess training needs and make decisions about salary and other benefits. South Bristol Youth may also need to process data from job applicants to respond to and defend against legal claims.

South Bristol Youth may process information about whether or not applicants are disabled in order to make reasonable adjustments for candidates who have a disability. This is to carry out our statutory obligations and exercise specific rights in relation to employment.

South Bristol Youth may, in some cases, process health information during the application process in order to find out whether applicants will be able to carry out an intrinsic part of the job. South Bristol Youth also processes health information about candidates after an offer of employment has been made. In each case, this will be done in accordance with Section 60 of the Equality Act 2010 for the purpose of ensuring that the candidate is able to perform the core duties of the job being offered.

Where South Bristol Youth processes other special categories of data, such as information about ethnic origin, sexual orientation, or religion or belief, this is for equal opportunities monitoring purposes.

For some roles, South Bristol Youth is obliged to seek information about criminal convictions and offences. Where we seek this information, we do so because it is necessary for us to carry out our statutory obligations and exercise specific rights in relation to employment.

If you are unsuccessful in obtaining employment with South Bristol Youth we may keep your personal data on file for six months, in case there are future employment opportunities for which you may be suited. We will ask for your consent before we keep your data for this purpose and you are free to withdraw your consent at any time.

Who has access to data?

Your data will, of necessity, be shared internally for the purposes of assessing your application. It is likely to be shared with members of the recruitment team, interviewers involved in the recruitment process, managers in the business area with a vacancy and IT staff if access to the data is necessary for the performance of their roles. South Bristol Youth will strive to limit access to your data to those staff who have a legitimate reason for seeing it and will endeavour to keep your data secure at all times.

Application assessments, pre-employment checks and references

South Bristol Youth may share an appropriately limited amount of your data with third parties in order to obtain references for you from former employers. If references are sought before interview or before an offer of employment is made, we will do this where you have given your express consent for us to do so. If your application for employment is successful and we make you an offer of employment, we will share your data with former employers to obtain references for you and the Disclosure and Barring Service to obtain necessary criminal records checks.

South Bristol Youth may receive and share your data with third parties that process data on our behalf in connection with the provision of services for the purposes of the recruitment exercise, for example to source, receive and/or shortlist applications on our behalf, and/or to carry out applicant testing such as psychometric assessments.

If you are successful in your application, South Bristol Youth may receive and share your data with a third party occupational health provider in connection with making decisions about your fitness for work.

South Bristol Youth endeavours to ensure specific contractual agreements are in place with any third parties who undertake this processing in order to protect your data. This is explained in more detail below.

Automated decision-making

We will tell you beforehand if we use any automated forms of assessment in our decision-making processes. You have the right to request that your application is not assessed by automated processes.

How does South Bristol Youth protect data?

South Bristol Youth takes the security of your data seriously. We maintain internal policies and controls that are designed to ensure that your data is not lost, accidentally destroyed, misused or disclosed, and is not accessed except by our employees in the proper performance of their duties. Access to any data is through South Bristol Youth ICT equipment only and password controlled, our IT provider monitors access to the network and can restrict or deny access if problems are encountered. Our confidentiality clause in our contract sets out guidelines of dealing with confidential data.

Where South Bristol Youth engages third parties to process personal data on our behalf, they do so only on the basis of written instructions, are under a duty of confidentiality and are obliged to implement appropriate technical and organisational measures to ensure the security of your data.

For how long does South Bristol Youth keep data?

In line with data protection principles, we will only keep your data for as long as we need it. If your application for employment is unsuccessful, we will hold your data on file for six months after the end of the relevant recruitment process.

If you agree to allow South Bristol Youth to keep your personal data on file, we will hold your data on file for a further six months for consideration for future employment opportunities. At the end of that period or once you withdraw your consent, your data is deleted or destroyed.

If your application for employment is successful, personal data gathered during the recruitment process will be kept and transferred to your personnel file and retained during your employment. The periods for which your data will be held are set out in our Data Retention Schedule which can be found on our public drives or can be provided at your request.

What if you do not provide personal data?

One of the reasons for processing your data is to allow South Bristol Youth to carry out an effective recruitment process. Whilst you are under no statutory or contractual obligation to provide data to South Bristol Youth during the recruitment process, if you do not provide the information, we may not be able to process your application properly or at all.

Your rights

As a data subject, you have a number of rights under current and new data protection legislation. In summary, these are:

- the right to be informed. This means that we must tell you how we use your data, and this is the purpose of this privacy notice.
- you have the right to access your data and to be told what data is held, who by, the purpose for which it is held and how long it will be held for. You have the right to ask for a copy of your data and an explanation of where it has been sourced. You may do this by contacting South Bristol Youth's Data Controller using the details at the top of the notice. The formal process for making such a request is known as a 'Subject Access Request'. You can find out more information about doing so at <https://ico.org.uk/for-the-public/personal-information/>.

- the right for any inaccuracies to be corrected. If any data that we hold about you is incomplete or inaccurate, you are able to require us to correct it.
- the right to have personal information about you deleted. If you would like us to stop processing your data, you have the right to ask us to delete it from our systems where you believe there is no reason for us to continue processing it.
- the right to restrict the processing of the data. For example, if you believe the data we hold is incorrect, you can ask us to stop processing the data (whilst still holding it) until it has been corrected.
- the right to portability. You may transfer the data that we hold on you for your own purposes to another organisation.
- the right to object to the way we use or process your data.

Where you have provided consent to our use of your data, you also have the unrestricted right to withdraw that consent at any time. There will be no consequences for withdrawing your consent. Withdrawing your consent means that we will stop processing the data that you had previously given us consent to use, however we may continue to process your data if we have a statutory reason or lawful basis for doing so.

If you would like to exercise any of these rights, you may do so by contacting South Bristol Youth's Data Controller using the details at the top of the notice.

If you believe that South Bristol Youth has not complied with your data protection rights, you can complain to the Information Commissioner. You can find more information about doing so at <https://ico.org.uk/concerns/>.
